

Chad Edward Cook PT, PhD, MBA, COMT, FAAOMPT

Chad is a Certified Orthopaedic Manual Therapist and a Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Manual Physical Therapists. Dr. Cook is the author of over 165 peer reviewed journal articles and co-authored 3 textbooks, including Orthopedic Manual Therapy: An Evidence Based Approach. Chad received his PhD in 2003 from Texas Tech and a B.S. in Physical Therapy from Maryville University in 1990. In addition to the abundance of articles and research Dr. Cook has created and participated in, he is a valued expert in the field and has been a keynote lecturer in 10 different countries and at multiple events such as the American Academy of Orthopedic Manual Physical Therapists, American Physical Therapy Association, McKenzie Conference of the Americas, and both MAPS Symposiums. Chad is the former Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Manipulative Manual Therapy and Chair of the Department of Physical Therapy at Walsh University. He is currently a Professor and Vice Chief of Research at Duke University in Durham, NA in addition to the Associate Editor with Manual Therapy, and an advisory editor for the Journal of Physiotherapy. He is an International PhD Advisor for the University of Otago in New Zealand. Dr. Cook has 23 years of knowledge and experience in the educational and clinical field of Physical Therapy.