

Robert Fleming DPT, OCS, COMT, FAAOMPT.

Robert is a Certified Orthopaedic Manual Therapist, Board Certified Orthopaedic Specialist, and Fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Manual Physical Therapists. Dr. Fleming has been a MAPS instructor since 2000, and co-author of the MT-ST: Stabilization Training & Functional Rehabilitation Seminar. Dr. Fleming is also a part time faculty at Northeastern University DPT program since 2009, and has actively participated in research studies on subjects such as shoulder dysfunction and cervicogenic headaches. Dr. Fleming received his M.S. in Physical Therapy from Mercy College ('98) and his DPT from Sage College ('05). In addition to teaching, Dr. Fleming presented at both MAPS Symposium presenting on cervicogenic headaches and "Private Practice and Ortho Outpatient Strategies." Currently the President of Fleming Physical Therapy Consultants PC in Schenectady, NY, Dr. Fleming has over 25 years of experience in PT. Dr. Fleming's experience and education makes him extremely well versed in both theory and realities of providing top-notch manual therapy patient care in today's challenging healthcare environment.