

Robert Fluegel PT, COMT.

Robert is a Certified Orthopaedic Manual Therapist and has been a Senior Instructor with MAPS since 2001. He worked directly under Chris Showalter in clinical practice for three years ('00-'03). Robert received his B.S. in Physiotherapy from Hogeschool Enschede in the Netherlands ('98) and has taken numerous continuing education courses with the likes of David Butler, Michael Shacklock, Gwen Jull, Jenny McConnell, Stanley Paris, Mark Laslett, Erl Pettmen and Bob Sprague among others. Robert presented at the 2016 MAPS Symposium on "Concussion" and was a contributing author to the MT-UC course manual. Robert was the Head Physiotherapist for the US Freestyle Ski Team for the 2011-12 FIS World Cup season. He is currently on the Rotational Medical Staff for the USSA and has also worked with the Swedish, Norwegian and German Freestyle Ski Teams at World Cup events across North America in recent years. Presently, Mr. Fluegel owns and operates his own private orthopaedic and sports physical therapy practice in New York City.
