

Brian S. Russ PT, DPT, OCS, FAAOMPT, COMT

Dr. Russ graduated with a B.S. in Physical Therapy from the University of Buffalo in 1999. He attended the Kaiser Permanente Fellowship Program in Advanced Manual Therapy from 2002-2004 where he earned fellowship status in the AAOMPT. Dr. Russ has practiced in a variety of orthopedic settings during his 15-year career. He is a board-certified clinical specialist in orthopedics. In 2012, Dr. Russ became a full-time faculty member at Nova Southeastern University where as Assistant Professor, he teaches in the transitional and entry-level DPT programs. He is a published author, course designer, and speaker with extensive experience teaching continuing education.